The Impala is now for sale has sold. The price is $7,995.

I am the second owner and the Impala has always been stored and driven in the Atlanta Area. The original owner is a friend of the family and still lives in Atlanta. The car has been garaged its entire life. This car was literally a little old lady's Sunday church car. The wheels were my addition not hers. :-)

The engine runs excellent. This car was a daily driver for 1.5 years. The car has air conditioning but it does not blow cold. The interior is in excellent shape even includes the original floor mats. The car has hit a pole or some stationary object. Therfor there is slight damage on the passenger rear quarter panel.

I have driven a Jeep CJ7, Mercedes, and Porsche's and this car gets way more attention than all of the others. This car is a true crowd pleaser. I am moving and need to sell the car.
